

Charlotte roel™

Neo Soul / R&B vocalist (EMI) and renowned songwriter (Peermusic) Charlotte Roel's fusion of Gospel & Urban Jazz is unique. The emotion her voice evokes is unsurpassed. Her unique tone, depth and power captivate the listener.

Sometimes referred to as the 'European Anita Baker' Charlotte's soulful vibes are in the same league as Alicia Keys, John Legend, Erika Baduh and Floetry.

Roel released her first single 'Perfect Love' in 1994. The catchy crossover track went #1 on radio stations all over Europe for 6 consecutive weeks. Charlotte's debut album Generation Love was released in Europe and Asia in 1996. Generation Love generated 3 radio hits.

The press nicknamed her 'Danish Queen of Soul' (Music & Media) and 'Voice of UNICEF' (Billboard).

Charlotte teamed up with UK soulstress Jaki Graham in 1999 and released upbeat duet 'Lovely Place'. Heart wrenching, self penned ballad 'What Kinda Man?' followed in 2001, which led the biggest independent Music Publishing Company in the world, Peermusic, to sign Charlotte to a publishing deal.

Her new material is more intimate & personal than ever. A testimony of an artist never stagnating, always experimenting, ever growing.

Charlotte has been based in London since 2002 and is the CEO of UK Production Company 3rd PRECINCT Ltd / Training Division Urban Precinct / Record Label Urban Precinct Records.
